Lisa Manning

With 27 years behind the chair, my journey in the beauty industry began in New Jersey and has taken me through new experiences, new places, and plenty of inspiration along the way. For the past 10 years, I've been proud to be part of the Davines family, sharing my passion for the brand and its approach to beauty, creativity, and education.
Now calling Iowa home, I bring a love for learning, a passion for all things hair, and an even bigger love for connecting with and inspiring other stylists. I believe there is always something new to learn, something to share, and room for everyone to grow.
For me, education isn't just about what you know — it's about what you inspire others to discover.
